

01-13-2013, 01:03 AM

#1

Genadi
Hall of Fame

Join Date: Jul 2005
Location: Brisbane, Australia
Posts: 3,612

 ~ Official Release ~ May 2001 "End of an Era"

Version 1.0

Start Date: May 1, 2001

Quote:

"They always say, 'you can't kill this business, you can only bruise it'. But what happened with WCW is living proof that you can kill this business when the people running it know nothing about it".
- Bobby Heenan, WCW Announcer from 1994-2000.

Data May: 1, 2001

<http://www.sendspace.com/file/0zfffz>

Also available here <http://www.ewwarehouse.info/category/tew-13-mods/>

Picture Pack (People)

Same As 1987* <http://www.sendspace.com/file/zguyqk>

Also available here <http://www.ewwarehouse.info/category/tew-13-mods/>

Picture Pack (Others)

Also available here <http://www.ewarehouse.info/category/tew-13-mods/>

Promotions: 26 Active (17 to Debut)

Workers: 1,711 (421 to Debut)

Teams: 183

Locations: 2,133

Alter Egos: 106

Dojos: 48

Start Injuries: 14

Agers: 946

Dojo Graduates: 530

End Of Year Awards: 29

Media Group: 6

Narratives: 130(You read that right, majority don't have an effect on the game but are there purely for immersion)

The Story So Far.....

North America

With the territory system a distant memory the pro wrestling scene in North America is just emerging from it's latest war for dominance. Vince McMahon's World Wrestling Federation is once again the only Global promotion left when the dust has settled after buying out his two biggest competitors, WCW and ECW. The subsequent dream Invasion angle that many a wrestling fan has salivated over for decades looks to becoming close to reality and the timing could not be better as pro wrestling continues it's industry boom in North America.

Meanwhile various indy promotions with different and ranging styles are springing up around the place riding on the success of the industry boom period for the.

Japan

Rocked by the death of Giant Baba in 1999, the Japanese wrestling scene is still feeling the effects of one of it's true legends passing. The founder of All Japan Pro Wrestling Giant Baba left the ownership of the company to his widow Motoko Baba and had Mitsuharu Misawa appointed as president. However, disheartened with Motoko Baba's proposed direction for the company, Misawa would depart the promotion in May of 2000 to form a new promotion called Pro Wrestling Noah. With Misawa followed all but two native stars (Masanobu Fuchi and Toshiaki Kawada being the only hold-outs), and is considered to be one of the biggest exoduses of talent in the sport's history.

New Japan Pro Wrestling continues it's reign as the number one company in Japan. While Antonio Inoki's booking the past few years seems to be slipping the NJPW name is still considered the most prestigious in the country. The recent influx of MMA crossover stars has spiked ratings for New Japan but many experts have expressed their concern it could do irreparable harm to the product, especially the fact that more and more NJPW stars are trying their hand in an MMA ring.

Mexico

The 90's witnessed Mexico robbed of it's greatest lucha's to the lure of North American money. As WCW and WWF signed hot prospect after prospect, Mexico's two biggest mainstay promotion's CMLL and AAA watched as their rosters were stripped almost bare. Now in the early 2000's both company's have put their future in the hands of young workers and have seen an immediate impact. Large crowds have started to return to events and new stars are being born again. Having learned the lessons of the past Mexican Luch Libre is looking to return to the forefront of professional wrestling.

Australia

It's glory years long gone Australian wrestling returned with a massive bang in the late 90's. Coinciding with the introduction of cable TV in the country the Monday Night Wars drew Aussie wrestling fans back to the sport in droves.

Notes And Things

- * Huge Gimmick file overhaul... no Gimmicks with 0% subtlety and all tweaked to fit C-Verse stats exactly.
- * Dojos Graduates have had a huge amount of work put into them with the number now totalling 530, this is useful for future workers debuting in certain promotions.
- * MCW was one of the WWF's development territories at the time but to make things sim better in the long run HWA has replaced them 6 months earlier than in reality. Any workers on development deals working in MCW at the time have been signed to HWA on the same type of contracts.
- * A relationship between Vince McMahon and Sting has been added to prevent Sting signing with the WWF. Vince is only booker not owner of the company though so if you play as head booker you can hire him without any issues.
- * Please report any typos, errors, odd things etc for future update fixes.

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RvZnffDP7Vg>

Enjoy 😊

Edit - Oops Title is supposed to read "May 2001" not "Jan 2001". Hopefully a mod can edit for me.

Last edited by Genadi : 01-13-2013 at 02:35 AM.

Close this window